By this time all the Christmas gifts will be bought and safely tucked away or snugly wrapped and on the journey to dear ones. Probably a few belated shoppers are hurriedly rushing around for one last gift for the nearly forgotten friend or acquaintance, and vowing to get the early shopping habit next year. Christmas is here.

Glenn Daykin, our new merchant in the Masonic block, has added a fine assortment of general merchandise and has made many changes to the interior of the store. The show window is filled with seasonable goods nicely arranged. He is much pleased with the large trade that is coming his way and feels that the purchasing public are appreciating his efforts to supply their wants.

Fern Hendershot has accepted a position as assistant superintendent of the Portland Woolen Mills of Portland, Oregon, and will move with his family about Jan. 10th. Fern has held the position of foreman of the spinning room in the woolen mills here for a number of years and is well liked by his employers and those working under him. In the social life of Yale Mr. and Mrs. Hendershot take an active part and made many warm friends who learn with regret of their leaving. The best of good wishes go with them to their new home.

John H. Holmes Heard From.

Brunswick, Ga., Dec. 17, 1915

Mr. J. A. Menzies,
Yale, Michigan

Dear Sir and Friend:—Arrived here safely after a drive of 1500 miles over pretty fair roads all the way. Some very good ones and some not so good, but on the whole very fair. Drove through Cleveland and Warren, Ohio, Pittsburg and Gettysburg, Pa. Went over the old battlefield of Gettysburg with a guide ($3.00 please) who explained the many points of carnage. There are 520 monuments on the grounds which (the grounds) cover 25 square miles, 16,000 acres of land. Went on to Baltimore and Washington. Spent two days in the capitol city, visited the many points of interest including the White House, and shook hands with the president. My card of introduction from Representative F. E. Doremus admitted us to all the places where people without an introduction are not allowed, therefore we passed into the inner vaults of the U. S. treasury and saw a package of money nine inches square that contained $40,000,000 and held one of the same size in our hands that contained $400,000, one being $10,000 bills, the other $1,000 bills. Continued on through Richmond, Va., Raleigh, N. C., Columbia, S. C., Augusta, Savannah and finally arrived at Brunswick, Ga. after a very interesting and delightful trip.

We have green garden stuff in our garden and the weather this morning is just like September in Yale. Our auto stood out beside the house in the yard last night (without anti-freeze dope in the radiator either, ha, ha.) It really does not seem real to us yet to be around the garden at this time of the year, without coat or vest, pulling green onions, peas and lettuce.

Well, I must have my old friend, the Expositor, and wish you to send it at once to me here.

Very truly yours,
John H. Holmes,
Brunswick, Ga.

Song Service.

Jennie Fletcher, who is teaching in Harvey, North Dakota, will arrive in Yale on Friday to spend the Christmas holidays with her parents and friends.

It looked for a time the first of the week as though we were going to have a white Christmas, but a change to warmer and thaw has put a different look on things.

A small blaze in the Mary Mullaney house on Third street caused a lot of excitement this morning. The fire was extinguished by the neighbors before the fire companies arrived.

The choir of the M. E. church desire to thank all the friends and former members of the choir who so kindly helped to make the bazaar recently held a success. Over $75 cleared.

The Yale Market Co. has a 7-month-old beef critter hanging in their south butcher shop that is a dandy. It weighed on foot 700 pounds and dressed 464 pounds. It has attracted considerable attention and will make one's mouth water to look at.

The Free Methodists and the Menonites will hold a union watchmeeting in the Free Methodist church on Friday night, Dec. 31, commencing at eight o'clock and continuing until twelve. All are invited to come. We have good sheds for the horses. J. N. Wilson and Rev. Jones.

Recommended for Croup.
W. C. Allen, Boseley, Mo., says: "I have raised a family of four children and used Foley's Honey and Tar with all of them. I find it the best cough and croup medicine I ever used. I used it for eight or ten years and can recommend it for croup." Same satisfactory results for coughs and colds. Herb T. Hennessy, Adv.

Ed Sheehy will load cattle and hogs on Friday, Dec. 31st. If you have anything to sell, notify him.

The Carlsbyville Robe Tannery is remodeling ladies' muffs from the old pillow style to the new melon shape, as well as its line of robe and coat making.

BASE BURNER FOR SALE—Regal Peninsular, 18-in. fire pot. Will be sold cheap. Milton Edgheffer. 37-2
